

Elite Program for Young Talents

The Staccato Elite Program for Young Talent (EPYT) is designed for young students who are aiming to achieve an accelerated music education. The objective of the course is to build up essential music skills in individual lessons, as well as to enhance their musicianship through group classes. There are also more performing opportunities for students in the course to attain a higher performance level.

This program includes weekly individual instrumental lesson and bi-weekly musicianship class covering music theory, aural skills and other musical related topics. The students will receive mid-week video feedback on their practice during the week in this program. They are also required to participate in two recitals, at least one competition, and two masterclasses throughout the year.

Students are encouraged to participate in external festivals or competitions to gain various experience, as well as attend live concerts through their music journey.

Students applying DSA (Direct School Admission) through music will be given two sessions of oral preparation for their interviews.

Weekly individual lesson, including 15 minutes of music theory practice

Bi-weekly musicianship class - 1 hour group class covering music skills such as theory, aural exercises, and music appreciation with other pupils through fun activities
